The prodigal son

The Prodigal Son by Harold Copping

<sup>20</sup> “But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and was filled with compassion for him; he ran to his son, threw his arms around him and kissed him.

<sup>21</sup> “The son said to him, ‘Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you. I am no longer worthy to be called your son.’

This is the story of the prodigal son. It should really be called the running father -
who waited every day
for his boy to return.
The boy who had rejected
him so badly and finally,
when he saw him from a long way
off - his father ran to him and hugged him, and kissed him. Luke 15

I will set out and go back to my father and say to him: Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you. <sup>19</sup> I am no longer worthy to be called your son; make me like one of your hired servants.'

‘Look! All these years I’ve been slaving for you and never disobeyed your orders. Yet you never gave me even a young goat so I could celebrate with my friends. <sup>30</sup> But when this son of yours who has squandered your property with prostitutes comes home, you kill the fattened calf for him!’

"He was lost and now is found."
